

We present Mathemα
a math magazine for high school students and invite you to write and edit!

THE MISSION

We aim to create a network of students enthusiastic about math in a region in India where education is not a priority.

Through this magazine, we will reach out to students who want to pursue math beyond school but lack the resources.

THE PLAN

We plan the first issue to be filled with articles, puzzles, riddles and fun math games written by professors, math popularisers and college students from around the world.

To be one of them, email me!
